

SHARE OUR FREE GIRLS WHO CODE PROGRAMS WITH YOUR COMMUNITY!

OUR IMPACT

13 billion campaign engagements!

450K girls served!

Half of girls served come from historically underrepresented groups in tech

90,000 college-aged or post-college-aged alumni—nearly 3x the number of women who graduated with CS and related degrees in the US in 2019

Girls Who Code is an international non-profit leading the movement to close the gender gap in technology.

Our free Clubs Program offers flexible coding curriculum, resources, and ongoing support for adults (18+) in your community to help 3-12th graders learn how to use code to change the world within a supportive global sisterhood.

Our free Summer Immersion Program offers current 9-11th grade girls, female-identifying, and non-binary students an introduction to computer science and an inside look into the tech industry through Girls Who Code staff and company partners.

BECOME A COMMUNITY PARTNER

We create customized, thoughtful partnerships with state and local leaders, school districts, community organizations, libraries, afterschool networks, and colleges/universities to provide students access to our free Clubs curriculum and Summer Immersion Program. There are two ways to partner with us:

HOST PARTNERS

If your organization directly supports potential Club host sites (i.e. school districts, library networks), you can become a Host Partner to launch Clubs at multiple locations in your network and spread the word about our Summer Immersion Program.

CONNECTOR PARTNERS

If you do not have direct access to potential Clubs host sites (i.e. STEM Hubs, Afterschool Networks), you can become a Connector Partner by spreading the word about Clubs and our Summer Immersion Program to your community through newsletters, webinars, events, and more.

THE MAGIC BEHIND CLUBS AND HOW TO INSPIRE YOUR COMMUNITY

What's so amazing about Girls Who Code is that anyone can start a Club, regardless of their experience with computer science. The materials are accessible, and we can actually learn to code alongside the girls.
